Course Description:

Welcome to Windsor's Instrumental Music Program! All courses in Concert Band are designed to provide students with a progressive training in instrumental music. This training includes technical aspects of instrumental performance, basic history and theory as related to the repertoire and guided exploration of many different genres of music. The difference between the band levels is based primarily on the difficulty and complexity of repertoire studied. Intermediate levels focus on an introduction to higher levels of music, complex theoretical concepts and a more rigorous performance schedule.

Big Ideas:

- Music communicates traditions, perspectives, worldviews and stories
- Creative and technical proficiency in music is transferable across different aspects of our lives
- Growth as a musician requires perseverance, resilience and reflection
- Collaborative music experiences can build community and nurture relationships with others
- Music offers unique ways of exploring our identity and sense of belonging

Course Content & Goals:

- Develop sufficient mastery of the necessary performance techniques on their chosen instrument
- Perform in large ensemble, small ensemble and solo contexts
- Develop techniques required to play in a variety of ensemble contexts, demonstrating technical competence and stylistic interpretation
- Perform diverse repertoire that includes a wide variety of musical genres and styles
- Develop refined reading, listening and critical thinking skills regarding performance

Ms. Heaven will expect:

- Full participation from students in terms of positive attitude, punctual attendance, respectfulness and teamwork

- Full attendance at all concerts

Students can expect:

- To train and perform at a high standard

- To have access to resources, extra coaching, and opportunities for personal development

Assessment & Evaluation:

Students will receive ongoing assessment and evaluation of their progress during each semester through a variety of assessment methods (rubrics, criterion, quizzes, performances and self-assessments) - both formative and summative. It is expected that students will take pride in their work and that any work submitted will reveal a high level of preparation, thought and care.

Assessment Breakdown:

100% - Musicianship, Performance and Participation

- 40% Concerts  full participation from set up to take down
Note: concert performances are treated as performance-based examinations and are considered the most important exams of each semester.
- 20% Personal Musicianship – personal preparation and musical self-discipline (evidence of regular practice as well as testing of content and technique).
- 30% Daily Rehearsals & Assignments – ensemble protocol and expectations contribute positively to the safe learning environment. Equipment care and maintenance, social responsibility, team awareness, regular and punctual attendance.

Course Guidelines:

Practice & Self-Discipline:

It is expected that students show up to rehearsal having practiced and spent time on the music. Class time is for rehearsing the music as a full ensemble – students are expected to prepare their individual parts on their own time or in sectionals.

Attendance Policy & Lateness:

Regular attendance is required for success. As music is a performance-based course, absences will influence assessment and evaluation. Attendance at the concerts which are performance-based examinations is mandatory. An unexcused absence from one of these performances is equivalent to missing a term exam.
